As our Wastewater Treatment Department has been performing sewer maintenance in the community, it has become apparent that our Inflow and Infiltration (I&I) regulations need to be updated. These regulations are designed to prevent homeowners from improperly connecting downspouts, sump pumps, etc. to the sanitary sewer system and overloading the system.

These updated regulations will allow the WWTP to conduct I&I inspections as-needed (not to exceed more than once per year) in order to prevent these improper connections. The ordinance also modifies the penalties for violating these regulations.
